

Some progress on the permutation codes

杨亦挺
同济大学

Permutation codes are widely applied in powerline communications and flash memories. In this talk, we'll present some new results on the evaluation of bounds for the permutation codes under several different kinds of metrics due to their applications backgrounds.